WORLD SERIES BALL GAMES START TODAY

MILLIONS OF FANS WILL BE WATCHING FAVORITE PLAYERS

Giants and Yankees go Thru Final Practice Tuesday Afternoon—Believe Both Teams Will Present Strongest Lines in First Game —Managers Making Final Arrangements

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Father Knickerbocker this afternoon was stricken with his annual fever—the world series fever—and Mistress Knickerbocker was keeping a careful eye on him.

With every crack of the bat his pulse jumped. The sharp cries that came from the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium as Giants and Yankees ran thru their final practice for the first game of the series tomorrow brought a flush to his cheeks.

Anxiously he kept his eye on bulletin boards for the latest news from his two home teams which for the third season in succession had squeezed all the rest of the country out of the final baseball orgy of the year.

The news was encouraging. Both teams would present their strongest lines, announced the rival managers, McGraw and Huggins. All the invalids have jumped from the couches on which they lay sore stricken and are ready for the first passage of arms.

Wally Pipp who holds down the first sack for the Yanks when he isn't nursing a sore ankle which he has been doing lately went thru some snappy practice on the home grounds today and so satisfied Huggins of his ability to hop, skip and jump that the man who holds the Yankees' helm proclaimed to the world that the regular first baseman would be on the job.

Babe Ruth who was hired by the Yanks to pop home runs over the fence, swung his bat lustily and announced he was prepared to make good his claim that he was the premier heavy batsman of the world.

McGraw went about his job today as unconcerned as if the Yankees existed only in fiction. He seemed to have only one worry That was who to pitch for the Giants in the first game. He had jotted down the names of Nehf and Scott, in his note book for first choice, while Huggins made known that either Pennock or Hoyt would officiate for the American Leaguers. From headquarters of the two leagues came the annual announcement that th attendance would break all records. Some substantiation of this claim was seen in the crowds pouring into town from the rest of the country taxing the hotel capacity of city.

Fair weather was forecast.

Capacity Crowds.

It was predicted that capacity of the stadium, 70,000 would be taxed and that the receipts would be close to $200,000. With games alternating between the stadium and the Polo Grounds which ranks next in point of size, there are indications that all world series turnstile records may be broken.

The experts and the "dope"—that nebulous buantity which has acquired a pretty steady habit of going wrong—played safe tonight by viewing the forthcoming struggle as a "toss up."

There were of course those adherents of the Yankees who declared the supposedly superior twirling strength of the American League champions, plus their improved morale, and the all-around greatness of Ruth, would be the deciding factors. And backers

LABOR AGAINST FORMATION OF ANOTHER PARTY

Items of Interest from Labor Federation Convention

(By the Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9.—The American Federation of Labor went on record emphatically today against launching into the political field thru the formation of the Separate Labor Party. The convention here by a vote of 25,066 yes, as against 1,895 no, 1,618 not voting, approved a report of the resolutions committee which recommended rejection of four resolutions so closing participating in politics as an organized independent party.

Action on the political resolutions followed the most spirited debate that the convention has seen. Advocates of political activity by organized labor presented their pleas and they were answered by an officer of the federation and delegates on the floor. Mathew Woll, a vice president of the federation, and secretary of the resolutions committee, pleaded for rejection of the political resolutions, arguing that labor should not place its destiny in the hands of a political party but should rather depend upon the stability of the trade union movement. He feared that introduction of political questions in labors realm would destroy the economic power of organized labor.

D. A. McVey of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who introduced one of the political resolutions declared that he wished to

Postmaster General Gives Fiscal Report

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Post-office department expenditures during the last fiscal year were $556,893,000 with revenues of $532,828,000, showing an apparent deficit of $24,065,000, it was announced today by Postmaster General New. There was an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year in the volume of business which was handled at an increased cost of 3.3 per cent. The deficit for the year ending June 30, 1922, was about $60,000,000.

The figures were compiled by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl. Mr. New in a statement accompanying them however, said they included more than $15,000,000 in undischarged obligations carried over from pervious fiscal years, and failed to take into account nearly $21,000,000 of such obligations incurred last year which will be paid later.

In order, he said, to show the volume of business more accurately, Mr. New gave out tables compared on an entirely new basis in which the expenditures and obligations for each fiscal year were contrasted directly with the revenue for the same year.

"Stated on the new basis," the statement said, "the expenses for the service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, were in round numbers, $570,781,000 as compared with $552,435,000 for the year ending June 30, 1922, making an increase of $18,346,000. The excess of expenses over revenues is $37,933,000. The operating deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, figured in the same way was $67,581,000 and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, $80,003,000.

DISCUSSION ON RUHR MATTERS TO BE RENEWED

Thought That France Will Deal Direct in Ruhr

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The French government thus far is unaware officially of the communication which the German representatives in Brussels and Paris are reported to have been instructed to make, giving notice to the allies that the German government is ready for negotiations with the object of bringing about an early revival of the economic life of the Ruhr.

The charge d' affaires in Brussels is understood to have delivered his message to the Belgian government and the absence of Premier Poincare from Paris is thought to account for the failure of a similar move as yet here. It was stated by a foreign office official tonight however, that France and Belgium will adhere to the policy they long ago decided upon that is that they will not send delegates to the Ruhr to meet representatives of the German government but will continue their negotiations direct with the Ruhr interests and will wait for the action of the inter-allied reparation commission on any proposition Berlin has to offer.

Word Is Expected

The foreign office has been expecting to hear from the German government but anticipated that the communication would refer to the reparations question as a whole instead of being confined to the economic activities in the Ruhr. This question is regarded at the Quai d' Orsay as being between the French and Belgium governments on one hand and the industrial and laboring interests in the occupied region on the other; intervention by the Berlin government is looked up as unnecessary with respect to the purely interior phases of the problem. The French and Belgian governments it was said at the foreign office tonight are entirely in accord on this point and any propositions from Berlin will be handed over to the reparation commission for consideration.

The German government long pretended that the passive resistance in the Ruhr was spontaneous it was said, hence it was only natural that questions concerning cessation of the resistance and the resumption of activities as they existed when the allies' orders were first issued to the coal syndicate and other interests should be treated by the allies with the directly involved parties.

DECATUR ENTERTAINS THREE CONVENTIONS

(By the Associated Press)

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 9—More than four hundred delegates are registered for the three separate conventions of county officials now in session here. Preliminaries out of the way, the delegates will settle down to work tomorrow with an attractive program to follow the business sessions of the conventions. Senator William B. McKinley will deliver the address of the evening following a dinner at which the Macon county board of supervisors will act as hosts.

Frank T. Sheets, superintendent of the Illinois Highways Division, will speak to supervisors on the road program in Illinois in the afternoon.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN SYNOD IS OPENED

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Oct. 9—The sixty ninth annual synod of the English Lutheran church Iowa, opened here tonight. The Rev. C. N. Swihart, D. D., of Nevada, Iowa, chairman, delivered the sermon. About 100 ministers and lay delegates are present and officers will be elected tomorrow.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 9.—Ed Lockhart, notorious bank robber who escaped from Oklahoma authorities in a spectacular jail delivery at Jay, Oklahoma, Sunday night, was seen by members of a searching party in the hills of Cherokee county, Oklahoma, late today, according to reports received tonight.

FORECAST OF COUNTRY'S CROP PRODUCTION MADE PUBLIC

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Slight reduction in crop production forecasts of a month ago, except for potatoes, hay and flaxseed, were shown today in the department of agriculture's monthly report. Corn registered a decline of 54,332,000 bushels the forecast being placed at 3,031,454,000 bushels. This would make it rank as the country's forth largest corn crop and make the fourth time it has passed the three billion figure. Wheat was estimated at 7,490,000 bushels less than a month ago, production being estimated at 781,737,000 bushels. Oats production declined 9,234,000 bushels and tobacco showed a reduction 89,005,000 pounds.

Tame hay estimates increased 60,667,00 tons and peanuts 40,-9,234,000 pounds more than a month ago.

Damage to Corn

Frost damaged corn in practically all of the North Central and Northeastern states but while the damage was severe in a number of sections it will not affect so much as the quality. Indications were that the quality would be below that of last year, the report said. In Iowa it was estimated 75 per cent of the corn crop was safe before October 1 and in Illinois 9 per cent. Taking the country as a whole the report said there is still considerable immature corn.

Spring Wheat Yield

The reduced spring wheat yields were attributed largely to rust and hot weather just before harvest. Extremely low yields wer reported from North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. The quality for the country as a whole was given as below the ten year average.

Yields of potatoes in eastern states are turning out better than expected the report said and the quality was reported to be excellent.

Frost in Wisconsin and Ohio and wet unfavorable weather in Tennesse and Kentucky were said to have caused losses in tobacco. Apple production was reported as ten per cent less than last year.

GALES AND FLOODS SPREADING DAMAGE IN FLORIDA TOWNS

Floods Result from Overflowing of Lake Okeechobee

(By the Associated Press)

MOOREHAVEN, Fla., Oct. 9—A frantic effort was being made tonight to rebuild the dikes surrounding this city and save the town from further disaster. The gale which swept across a lake on which the city faces was dying down at dusk, but the water was still rising in the city.

Waves from Lake Okeechobee were still washing high and farmers were attempting to reach the city with their stock. A small canal bank was crowded with refugees, the bank affording the only dry spot for miles around.

Dikes Crumbling

A careful check today showed there was no loss of life. Only a shift in the wind can check the rapidly rising water for it has been discovered that not only was the dike around Moorehaven despoiled, but the dike extending down to Clewistown, 20 miles from here, has crumbled away in places so that the flood became far reaching over the entire west coast of the lake.

Levee Breaks

A special despatch to The Reporter Star from Moorehaven at 4:55 p. m., said that the levee had broken in at least five places and that water is from one to six feet deep in the country. Almost all two story buildings are filled with persons coming in from the farms in boats and many are leaving town, the despatch said.

Clewiston Road is under water all crops are damaged seriously and bridges are washed out, according to the despatch which adds that the water in the streets of Moorehaven is three feet deep and is in almost every business house. The flood resulted from the overflowing of Lake Okeechobee.

The water was still rising when the despatch was filed, the correspondent said. Because of the strong wind it is impossible to move the dredges from their position, the despatch stated.

The correspondent said it was believed the greatest loss would be to livestock. All negroes have been driven from their homes by the high water, but there is no loss of life so far as is known.

BANKS AND INSURANCE BUSINESS ARE RAPPED

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The pernicious practice of certain banks engaging in the fire insurance business amounts almost to a national scandal, first chief John Kenlon, of New York today told the International Fire Prevention Congress. He said that the action of banks making loans on merchandise by accepting fire insurance policies as collateral, frequently drove the borrower to burn his stock in order to pay off the loan.

"All the millions spent on corrective fire prevention orders, the enormous amount expended for salaries of fire prevention engineers and inspectors, have been rendered practically nil, because of the growth of arson, fostered by over-insurance and wild-cat pernicious banking. It is time to call a halt," Kenlon said.

PLAY CLAIMED AS THE PREVENTATIVE OF ABNORMALITIES

Present System of Athletics Gets Very Strong Scoring

(By the Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. Oct. 9—A denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan by a Kentucky college professor, an attack on the college athletics and preparations to see tomorrow Niels Bukh and his Danish athletes in their demonstration of physical training tonight occupied the attention of the Tenth Recreation Congress meeing in this city.

Professor John Smith of Berea college, Kentucky, delivered the attack on the Klan.

"Deny big be men recreation and they creep into the Ku Klux Klan" said Professor Smith, in discussing play in the open country. He then denounced the klan as the "most mercenary and merciless organization in this country."

"Nobody is handling the country recreation problem," said Professor Smith. "I want to see something done for the boy and the girl at the head of the hollow. Deny the open country play and you thrust a dagger into the heart of America. If we would purify America at its very heart we must provide self-expression for the people in the hills and the country districts.

"Where there is no recreation the hill people of Kentucky, Illinois and other states grow wild with emotional religion. Insanity and sexual immorality also are direct results of the absence of play in the rural regions."

Hits College Athletics

Inspeaking of college athletics John J. Tigert, of the U. S. Bureau of Education denounced the present system of competitive athletics in American physical education practiced in schools and colleges and the deification by Americans of the God of winning. He assailed it as physically harmfull to the participants and said he believed that more damage than good came of it and that the only benefits were not physical but social and moral.

Taft's Warning

Human rats will some day occupy the magnificient buildings of American cities just as the dregs of other great races now slink out their lives in the ruins of early Europe's greatness, unless the United States awakes in time to the real value of life, was the warning delivered by Lorado Taft, famous American sculptor.

MINERS VOTE TO CALL OFF STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 9—The general grievance committee representing the union mine workers of the Hudson Coal company, today voted to call off the strike which had been in effect at 19 of the company's 22 collieries since Monday, and authorized the resumption of work tomorrow. More than 19,000 men were affected. The committee decided to present their grievances in regular form, first to the district union officials and finally to the Anthracite board of conciliation for adjustment. This action was taken on advice of officials of the United Mine Workers who had declined to sanction the walkout.

ALL REICHSTAG MEMBERS ASKED TO BE ON HAND

Fate of Stresemann's Measure to be Decided Wednesday

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—The leaders of the coalition parties today sent out telegraphic summons to absentees from the reichstag sessions to report Wednesday's sitting when the fate of Chancellor Stresemann's measure giving the government authorization to deal with the economic and financial situation will be decided on third reading. As the immediate future of Dr. Stresemann's second coalition government depends on acceptance of the measure and as 211 supporting votes are required for final sanction, the government leaders today decided it was imperative that the coalition parties be represented at tomorrow's session in full strength as even then the measure would command a majority of only 20.

The Opposition

The nationalists and communists in the course of today's parliamentary debate opposed what they termed the dictorial measure of the chancellor. Dr. Karl Helfferich, former secretary of the imperial treasury speaking for the nationalists demanded that the measure be referred to the judiciary committee for scrutiny. His motion was rejected. The parliamentary situation continues to show a feverish temperature, due to the prevailing consciousness that the revamped coalition government presents anything but a co-ordinated and cohesive unit and the added circumstances that the industrialists apparently are assuming the initiative in the problem of getting Ruhr economics righted.

Attacks Bitter

While the accounts given by Hugo Stinnes of the Genesis of last week's crisis and his relation to it is being widely discussed, the great industrialist and his associates are incurring bitter attacks in sections of the liberal and Socialistics press for their alleged attempts to force independent negotiations with General DeGoutte, the French commander, although there is a wide discrepancy and apparent contradiction as regards the manner in which these attempts have been conducted and the nature of the problems discussed.

The capitalist, lumberman and railroad president's method was this:

OKLAHOMA'S CHIEF OFFERS TO RESIGN FROM HIGH OFFICE

This Contingent Upon Called Session of the Legislature Enacting Laws Which He Will Submit—McBee Unanimously Named as Speaker of House for Forthcoming Session

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 9.—Governor J. C. Walton tonight offered to resign to prove his good faith in his fight against the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma, if the legislature, at its forthcoming special session will enact an anti-klan law which he will submit to the lawmakers.

Challenging opponents of his administration whose battle cry has been:

"We want neither klan nor king," the executive issued a statement addressed to the people of Oklahoma declaring:

"When this bill becomes a law it will rid the state of the klan and I will resign the office of governor immediately thereupon. In this way, the people will be protected from the klan and peace and harmony can be restored to the state."

Briefly the governor's bill prohibits the use of the mask by secret organizations in Oklahoma and provides that all such orders shall file complete membership lists with the regularly appointed civil authorities.

If his proposition is not accepted, Governor Walton declared, he will decide further "how we must proceed to protect ourselves from this organization of masked marauders who have practical control of the judiciary and police powers in the principal cities of the state."

McBee Chosen.

Representative W. D. McBee, of Stephens county, active in the impeachment movement against Governor J. C. Walton unanimously has been chosen speaker of the house for the extra session of the ninth legislature which will open Thursday it was announced at legislative headquarters here tonight.

The announcement said that while no caucus yet has been held the majority of house members who signed the original call for an investigation of the official conduct of the executive are at one in their choice of Representative McBee as their presiding officer. Tonight members of both houses of the legislature are gathering in Oklahoma City in preparation for the special session.

Governor's Call.

Governor Walton ordered the lawmakers to assemble for an investigation into the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma shortly after a majority of lower house members on their own initiative had called the house into session Oct. 17, to consider the official conduct of the executive

Instead of meeting on the latter call the legislators say they will convene Thursday but will institute an inquiry into impeachable offenses charged against Governor Walton before proceeding with the Ku Klux Klan matter.

A caucus is to be held tomorrow night by the majority house members to organize for an attack against the governor's record.

With a near zero hour calm pervading the situation, attention turned momentarily today to the courts where civil proceedings instituted by Governor Walton to prevent certification of returns from a recent special elec-

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 9.—The Superior units of the Wisconsin national guard were called out tonight by order og Governor Blaine to fight the fire raging thru the state park at Manitou Falls.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 9.—Forest fires raging holacaust of flame extending from Superior to the Michigan boundary, began their work of destruction tonight. Fanned thruout the day by a west wind, the flames tonight had claimed one life, destroyed a number of homesteads, closed highways to traffic and had placed the lives of hundreds of northern Wisconsin settlers in jeopardy. The first fatality came when Mildred Koivu, three years old, wandered into the woods near Mohawk, Michigan and was burned to death.

Counties Dotted.

Douglas, Ashland, Bayfield and Ironwood counties are dotted with the fires. Breathing in these four counties was a continuous torture, the heavy pall of smoke obscuring even the sun's rays at mid-day. Lumber companies have already suffered losses that will amount to thousands of dollars it is believed as the fires are ranging in districts which are

America Is Dominated By "Fleeting Vision"

(By the Associated Press)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—Public offices are forced to give half their time to unnecessary contacts and a considerable portion of the nation's energy is wasted by the dominance in America today of a fleeting vision, a thirst for sensation and a relentless need for action, Secretary Hughes declared tonight at a dinner to President Angell of Yale university, held in connection with the convocation of Brown university.

"We find ourselves," he said, "in the age of the motor, the movie and the radio, which with freedom of locomotion, noval and easy intimacies, and the ever present and constantly expanding enterprise of the press give us a delusive facility in acquiring information. It is the day of fleeting vision. Concentration, thoroughness the quiet reflection that ripen the judgment are more difficult than ever.

"I think that it is the experience of public officials that it is not the proper work of the office that wears, but the unceasing requirements of those who have little to do with the public business and by their constant importunities for extra official attention use up the nervous energy which should be devoted to public service. But so important is the maintenance of good will, so generous are our American expectations that it may be said that a public officer gives about one-half his time to contacts which are really unnecessary in order that he may be in a position to serve the other half."

Secretary Hughes asserted it was the primary need of the American university, now more than ever—to inculcate the desire for serenity, reflection, sobriety of reason and calmness of judgment.

Meanwhile the program for increasing the efficiency of the Jacksonville water system should not be forgotten. A proposed program that is not followed fails. Some organization or group of citizens should take this water improvement proposal in hand.

It is a fact that men are employed at one of the U. S. mints on a 12 hour day basis and the wages paid are lower than customary in manufacturing industry. When all the talk about the steel corporation and the 12 hour day is recalled, the mint situation is the more surprising.

A statue honoring War Governor Yates is soon to be unveiled in Springfield with appropriate ceremony. The building of this memorial comes as a just recognition of the patriotic services of Illinois' war governor to his state, and the nation. It is a matter of history that his war time action had a vast amount of influence in the preservation of the union.

Jacksonville's second gift campaign opens today. It is on larger lines than was true of the campaign of 1922 and will no doubt attract even greater interest. Certainly one cannot visit the gift room on West State street without enthusing to some extent over the possibility of acquiring some of the goods displayed, along with the ordinary purchases made during the remaining months of the year.

There has been quite a toning down in the utterance of Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota since his recent visit to Washington. It may be that the senator really had an erroneous idea about the efforts which have been made by the administration and the leaders in congress to relieve the agricultural situation, and that during his visit to Washington he saw the situation in a new light.

ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE

Why is America so much better off today than Europe. Not necessarily because we are a better or brighter people, or because we have greater natural resources. It seems mainly due to the diversity of our industries, which makes us almost self-supporting, and to our rapid growth, which furnishes a home market for increased production.

Speaking along this line, Charles E. Mitchell, head of one of the biggest banks in America, says:

"We are wont to pass over too lightly the tendency in this country toward growth and improvement. Who would have thought, when the war ended, for instance, but that the enlargement of our iron and steel industries, built up to supply war demands, would have been far more than sufficient to meet the requirements of our country for a decade to come? Yet iron and steel production this year has been practically at capacity. Generally speaking, our leading lines of manufacture have been surpassing records of war-time production. The fact is, our industries are so diversified that they support each other, forming a great circle of exchanges, within themselves, and, if kept in balance, there is almost no limit to their development.

"In the last five years we have been gradually breaking away from economic dependence on the outside world."

LET THERE BE LIGHT

President Coolidge was unquestionably well within the truth when he declared in his proclamation calling for observance of "Education Week," that "every American is entitled to a liberal education. Without this there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope of perpetuating self-government. Despotism finds its chief support in ignorance."

He might have gone further and declared that a liberal education is not only the right of every American, but it is the duty of every American to take advantage of his right. Rights are always accompanied by responsibilities. The right to vote carries with it the duty to vote—the duty to vote intelligently and honestly. There can be no intelligent voting without education. A citizen fails in his duty to his country and to his neighbors when he fails to prepare himself to vote understandingly upon the questions that are submitted to a decision of all citizens at the polls.

President Coolidge's assertion that despotism finds its chief support in ignorance might be emphasized by a statement of its corrolary — that despotism finds its greatest opponent in education. As Mr. Coolidge said, one of the first tasks of the early settlers of this continent was to provide for education, and thus they laid the foundation for the ultimate overthrow of the despotism which they denounced in such vigorous language in the Declaration of Independence. The Revolution was preceded by long discussion, debates in colonial assemblies, distribution of pamphlets, cyrstallization of public opinion. This was possible only among a people where education was the rule and ignorance the exception.

There are various grades and degrees and kinds of despotism, but they are all subject to the same qualification — they find their opportunity in ignorance and their overthrow in education.

OLD TIMERS WEDDING

(BY ENSLEY MOORE)

Member Illinois Historical Society

More old settlers and others will be interested in the following from the Santa Barbara, Cal., News of Oct. 2 inst., more than almost anything we could produce. Mr. Kellogg was graduated at Illinois college in 1873. His wife was Timothy Chamberlain's daughter. The Kelloggs were first settlers of Morgan county.

A golden wedding anniversary was the rare and happy occasion that brought nearly three hundred friends together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Florentine Leslie Kellogg of 33 East Valerio street last evening to share with them in the celebration of this notable event.

It was a happy occasion, with scores of old friends rejoicing with them, and extending congratulations in person. As a proof of the affection their friends hold for them the spacious rooms of the Kellogg home were transformed into a bower of flowers. Everywhere were lovely baskets and bouquets of choice autumn blossoms sent them by their friends. Most of them were in the golden shades, suggestive of the occasion. Upstairs and down, their fragrance and beauty filled every room.

After greeting the bridal couple of 50 years, the guests wandered about the rooms, greeting old friends and recalling the halcyon days of Santa Barbara when their friends came here nearly 50 years ago on their honeymoon. In one room the huge wedding cake, a gift of the nieces and nephews of Mr. Kellogg, was the cynosure of all eyes. It was a work of art. Its immense exterior was topped by a quaint bell tower. On top was the little God of love holding sway. Below were a group of sugar bells. And on another tier four little cupids pulled at the silken bell cords. Golden and white roses adorned it, and tiny yellow electric lights cast golden gleams over it.

In the dining room, a long table covered with a handsome sheer cloth embroidered in gold, bore a large basket of exquisite yellow water lilies and the coffee service.

It was nine o'clock that Mrs. Charles Tomlinson at the piano began the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March and the bride and groom walked in. The bride looked very beautiful in her gown of white Canton Crepe and quantities of rose point lace. She wore a golden band about her head and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums with streamers of gold ribbon. She was attended by a maid of honor, her niece, Miss Elizabeth Mason, radiant in a frock of cloth of gold. She had a fillet of gold leaves in her hair and carried a large golden shaded fan. The wedding party stood in a window recess filled with gold colored blossoms.

Others in the wedding party included the bride's sisters, and brothers-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield B. Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. William Mason, who are to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary in a year and a half, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maguire, and Mrs. Emma Hardacre. Mrs. Metcalf wore a stunning gown of black lace trimmed with a loop of coral velvet on the skirt. Mrs. Mason's frock was of pale grey georgette, trimmed with silver lace. Mrs. Maguire's was in cream lace over cream radium silk. Mrs. Hardacre wore gray satin.

After Mrs. Tomlinson had sung, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," Dr. Edgar Campbell, of Goleta, master of ceremonies, officiated. He read a telegram from Bishop Earl Cranston, of the Methodist church from New Jersey. Bishop Cranston married the Kelloggs in Jacksonville, Ill., 50 years ago yesterday. His telegram said he had lost track of the lovers until their card reached him and he recalled the young lovers of 50 years ago. The long message to them was a beautiful one. Telegrams were read from other eastern friends.

One of the oldest friends at the ceremony was Miss Abby Hails. Miss Hails read an original poem, very charming and appropriate in honor of the occasion. She has attended every wedding anniversary of the Kelloggs and at every one has written a poem.

Mrs. Ella Sexton, of Goleta, who was the first person to call on the bridal pair when they arrived in Goleta, reminisced of that far away time. She told an amusing story of her first visit. Mr. Kellogg, a young college man, was unlearned in the ways of California ranching. He was trying to plow a side hill. His horses were getting away from him. His bride stood on the top of the hill and laughed merrily at her husband. Mrs. Sexton said that Mrs. Kellogg had inspired and taught her to paint. Her gift to her friends was a China tea set, an attractive affair she painted in gold with a cluster of orchids on each piece. Chaplain Potter of the Grand Army of the Republic, an old friends of the couple, married them again. His words of congratulations and blessings were among the finest things of the celebration.

Mrs. Tomlinson sang as a postlude to the ceremony "Annie Laurie." The old fashioned song sung with much sweetness and feeling was enjoyed by the honored couple and their guests.

A buffet supper followed. The wedding cake was cut. Mrs. James Chapman and Mrs. John P. Truslow presided at the coffee urns.

Besides the hundreds of baskets and bouquets of flowers Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg received many handsome gifts.

It was an occasion long to be remembered. The hospitality of the two was the genuine kind that characterized Santa Barbara of the old days. There was a feeling of friendliness in the rooms of the Kellogg home, built more than a quarter of a century ago, that made the guests at home. Their friends departed reluctantly with wishes that the bridal couple of 50 years see many more happy anniversaries.

PAROLE SYSTEM IS NORTHWESTERN PLAN

Plan to Be Used at University for Assisting Slow Students—Been Found Successful

EVANSTON. (By the A. P.)—Northwestern university is again to experiment with the parole system for "slow" students this year, although officials say the first year's results were not entirely satisfactory.

Under the new parole system such students as make poor scholastic records and fail in mental alertness tests are allowed sponsors, who are college graduates and who undertake to coach the backward student and see him or her thru the college year. The parole privilege is extended to prospective freshmen who rank in the lowest quarter of their preparatory school graduating class in scholarship and who fail to make the so-called "median score" in the mental alertness test.

Last year in the college of liberal arts six parole students were given sponsorship and of this number three eventually failed. This year there are 12 parole students who will receive coaching.

Dean Palmer's Report

Assistant Dean Paul L. Palmer, following a close study not only of the parole system in education but of mental alertness tests and their significance, in a report just made to President Scott argues for attaching greater value to the results of mental alertness tests.

"I do not consider the tests always an accurate gauge for an individual," explained Mr. Palmer. "But in a large group of students the test usually measures just about what can be expected of a majority of that group."

Dean Palmer quoted from statistics to show that of the first quintile, the upper fifth in mental alertness test standing, 75 per cent obtained a point average of one better which is necessary for graduation, whereas in the lowest fifth of the group only 27 per cent did that well. Only 14 per cent of the highest group were on probation at any time during the year while the lowest group, 44 per cent were in trouble scholastically more or less of the time. Only 12 per cent of the highest group in mental alertness standing were eliminated by poor scholarship or withdrawal during their first two semesters whereas 43 per cent of the lowest group were excluded or withdrew in the same length of time.

Small Dwellings Set at Angle to the Street to Give More Light and Air and Greater Security against Intrusion: Heat and Electricity are Supplied from a Central Plant

More Light and Air for Small Homes

Some of the disadvantages of small dwellings built in groups for the sake of economy have been overcome in Germany by placing the houses at an angle to the street to provide more light and air for each dwelling. Such groups are easily supplied with heat, electricity, and water from a single center. Under the German plan each of the houses has a little garden, secure against the prying curiosity of neighbors and equally protected against intruders in the front and rear.

Million Wasps Are Freed To War On Crop Pests

One million wasps, the size of pinheads, have been imported by the government and are now distributed in the East to destroy the corn borer. The wasps will save millions of dollars in crops for the farmer, if they serve as well as they have in Europe. Whether they can flourish in this climate has not been determined. The borer, resembling a caterpillar, attacks corn, beets, celery, beans, rhubarb, potatoes, buckwheat, clover, and many other products. By laying eggs on it, the female wasp kills the borer.

¶ Registration of trucks and automobiles as reported recently indicates that there are now more than 13,048,128 motor vehicles in the United States, an average of one machine for every 8.5 persons. Between July 1, 1922, and July 1, 1923, there was a gain of 2,440,000, almost 23 per cent.

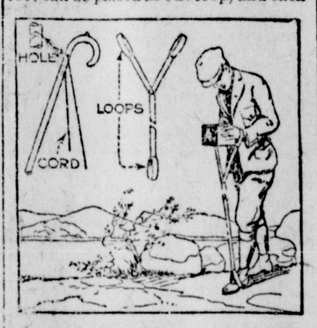

Women Inventors Are Busy on Industrial Problems

To learn just what part women were taking in inventions, government officials recently undertook a survey that showed over 5,000 patents had been granted to them in 10 years, more than the total for 100 years previous. The first patent granted an American woman was given by the British government to the wife of a Pennsylvania planter, for a device to clean and cure corn. Labor-saving devices are said to make up the majority of women's inventions, one being an apparatus for scattering fertilizer together an article to stop [illegible] while an adjustable horse collar [illegible] by a Montana woman, [illegible] pie pan was designed to prevent juices from overflowing the rim, and a wooden mixing bowl was invented that would not split. Novel Methods of Taking Time Exposures

Tripods are more or less of an annoyance to the camera enthusiast, and few use them. However, it is sometimes necessary to make a time exposure to get the desired picture, but the camera cannot be held steadily enough with the hands to avoid doubling the image. It is, however, a simple matter to hold the camera steady if a cane is carried along. Just below the crook of the cane two holes are drilled from opposite sides to meet in the center, both slanting down from the point of junction. Another hole is drilled through the crook to take a tripod screw, on which the camera is mounted. A cord is run through the angular hole, the ends of the cord are stepped on, and pulled taut by pulling back on the cane, which has the end planted on the ground in the position indicated, thereby holding the cane firmly in position.

Another method of steadying the camera is to cut a length of tape into three pieces, and to tie or sew these pieces together at the central point as shown, making a form of the letter Y. Loops are made at the ends so that the foot can be placed in one loop, and each wrist in another. Then, with the camera clasped between both hands, an upward pull will enable the user to hold the camera steadily.

say in defense of himself that he and his associates were not communists.

He said the only way that labor could accomplish anything permanent would be thru political action.

Resolution Rejected

After a debate in which the soviet government of Russia was attacked and defended, the convention of the American Federation of Labor in session here this evening rejected a resolution proposing that the federation urge the government of the United States to take steps leading to resumption of trade relations with Russia and eventual recognition of the Russian government.

The debate on soviet Russia which followed refusal by the convention to sanction a labor party occupied all afternoon, extending beyond the usual hour for adjournment. The debate reached a dramatic climax when Samuel Gompers tapped the table with his gavel and announced:

"The chair recognizes Delegate Gompers!"

Vehemently denouncing the government, which he branded as autocratic and a violation of democracy, Gompers declared it was not satisfied to rule its own country but sought to wreck the democracies of the world.

"The leaders of the soviet government," he said, "realize that to destroy the government of the United States it is necessary for it to destroy the American Federation of Labor. This is why the labor movement is being stabbed in the back.

Illiterates Can't Lead

"Can we expect that a people illiterate as the Russians have been forced to be thru centuries are to be leaders of thought and philosophy of the world? Are they to lead and we to follow? Is their dogma to be the watchword of American labor? I think not.

"If any government has been so brutal as the soviet government my knowledge of history has been at fault. There is no freedom of speech, no freedom of assembly in Russia.

"If the soviets will but let us alone, we are perfectly willing they should stew their own mess."

The convention this afternoon adopted a resolution by W. M. Short of the Washington State Federation of Labor, proposing a constitutional amendment for election of federal judges by vote of the people.

The principle of old age pensions was endorsed and the federation officials were directed to investigate state constitutions with a view to suggest amendments necessary to put them into effect.

covered with virgin timber.

Navigation on Lake Superior has become a serious problem the smoke covering the water with a density unknown to the heaviest fog. Breathing on the boats, when they near shore is almost impossible.

Houghton and Kewaunee, Mich. continued to battle the flames near the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary. No serious damage has yet been reported from this district, but a number of buildings have been reported as destroyed.

Lumbering Center Threatened

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 9.—Menaced by a raging forest fire Ontonagon, Michigan, on the South shore of Lake Superior, 150 miles from here, a town of 1500 population, is threatened with destruction, according to a telephone message to the Associated Press from C. D. Riley, editor of the Ontonagon Herald. Ontonagon, a lumbering center, was completely destroyed by a forest fire in 1896.

The town fire department after sprinkling the outer buildings with water has taken up posts on the outskirts. Townsmen are reinforcing the firemen.

According to Mr. Riley, the edge of a forest fire which has covered approximately sixty square miles, is within seven miles of Ontonagen.

No Lives Yet Lost.

No loss of life has yet been reported, but one farmer Mike Miller, near Greene lost his farm buildings. He escaped with his wife and children to the Green Village school house where the families of villagers and farmers are being housed while the men fight fires.

Mr. Riley believed several logging camps have been destroyed as the fire is raging in a thickly wooded forest where there are extensive logging operations. The loss to timber owners will be enormous, Mr. Riley said, since the fire is burning in one of the best timbered sections in that region.

KEEP DRESS OF ANCESTORS

Costumes in Yucatan Are Much the Same Now as They Were in the Long Ago.

The modern Yucatan laborer has retained the dress of his ancestor, wearing crude sandals, white flaring trousers, a white jacket with a row of pockets along the bottom seam, and a colored apron wound around his hips and tucked in at the waist. The trousers are made of white duck, while cheaper trousers, work shirts and jackets are made from coarse, unbleached sheeting, locally known as "manta cruda." The apron contains a little more than a yard of cloth, and is made of ticking.

The working women wear white dresses made from such materials as bleached sheeting, cambric and longcloth, and usually trimmed around the neck, armholes and bottom with flowered strips which are made especially for this trade. White drill and cotton are used for suitings for men's clothing, blue drill principally for suits of railway employees, dock laborers and mechanics, and other articles for purposes similar to those of other countries.

No statistics of the imports of cotton piecegoods are available, but local conditions tend to give it considerable importance and volume. The natives of Yucatan take particular pride in the neatness and cleanliness of their clothing, the extent to which this is carried out being dependent largely on the economic conditions prevailing in the state.

CLING TO ANCIENT CUSTOMS

Gypsies Today Rigidly Observe the "Laws" That Have Been Their Guidance for Centuries.

The gypsies of Great Britain have some very peculiar customs, which are rigidly observed.

No gypsy regards the dog as other than an unclean servant. One of them licking a frying pan, the utensil was straightway put into the embers to burn away the evil. Another, more strict, drove a stake through the bottom of a bucket from which his dog had lapped a drink.

There is no gainsaying the true gypsy's regard for these ancient customs. He is terrified at the slightest departure from proper methods and precautions. His women must not act in the slack manner of the gajos around them. An engaged girl, for instance, must sit outside the camp circle when suitors are announced. She is not in the market, and other girls are.

The love story of a gypsy is a public affair—that is according to custom, not to any fear of moral lapse. It seems rather odd that with all these laws the gypsies should not regard the church marriage with great favor. They look upon such as merely a whim—and the strictly orthodox have a great objection to going into the presence of corpses.

Dog Objected to Ceremony.

A woman had engaged a manservant who was new to his job, and among other things she had instructed him to always bring anything into the drawing room on a salver.

A visitor called one day with a large and ferocious-looking dog, which was left outside. When the visitor was about to go, however, his hostess wished to see the dog, so she rang and told the man to bring it in.

Some minutes elapsed, but he did not appear. Suddenly the sound of angry growls, snarls and barks was heard, so the bell was rung again and the man entered carrying the salver, but with a look of distress on his face.

"Pardon me, madam," he said, with a deferential cough, "but I could not indooce the hanimal to sit on the salver. 'E knocked me down three times and bit my leg somethin' cruel. If the gentleman wants 'im, 'e's still outside."

Clock Comparatively New.

The modern clock is a comparatively new invention, and is credited to a German inventor, named Henry de Vick, A. D. 1364. The fundamentals of De Vick's clock were identical with those of today, with the exception that he did not find out the use of the pendulum, but regulated his clock by means of balance wheels. Charles V of France was much interested in this new clock and commanded De Vick to come to Paris and install a clock in the large turret of his palace in Paris.

Wanted to Speed Up the Case.

At one stage of a tedious trial a lawyer produced some 500 checks and began introducing them into evidence one at a time. As each check required a lot of "proving," the judge thought they might be bunched to save time. So he asked of the attorney: "Why don't you put some coal on the fire?"

"Your honor, I am putting coal on the fire," returned the attorney.

"Take a shovel. You're using a tablespoon," said the judge.

That Nailed Him.

Quick thinking always gets results.

"Won't you help the Patagonians?" asked a lady collector.

"Young lady," responded the business man gravely, "last week you asked me to help the Babylonians. After an investigation, I find that the Babylonians have all been gone for 2,000 years."

"Then you'd better help the Patagonians while you've got a chance."

He gave her a check.

On Wings.

"I hope the time won't drag while I am away," chirped wifey.

"It will pass quickly enough," said hubby. "I gave a sixty-day note to cover your vacation expenses." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

SECRETARY WALLACE TALKS TO DAIRYMEN

(By the Associated Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Readjustment which is in progress will end discontent among agriculturalists, in the opinion of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, here today for the World's Dairy Congress and the National Dairy Eposition.

"The farmer is not radical and never will be," Secretary Wallace said, "he is our best conservative citizen and any talk of radicalism is bunk."

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, stated the American wheat farmer must organize co-operatively and study world conditions. When he takes time to study these conditions he will no longer be a one crop farmer. He will diversify to meet conditions as they are. Co-operative organization for the farmer is bound to prove its own salvation.

Good Blood Means Good Health

A clear, healthy skin, full of life and color, reflecting perfect health and energy has long been known to be a business and social asset.

If you are not the fortunate possessor of all the above—if you are suffering from skin eruptions of any description, it means that the blood is weak.

Pure blood, rich red in color and circulating freely, is the essential factor in the possession of perfect health.

When it becomes impoverished—thin and watery—it cannot supply proper nourishment and the body tissues become diseased.

This condition is ever ready to manifest itself and should be checked and treatment started with the first appearance of blood disorder.

In our estimation Nyal's Hot Springs Blood Remedy is the one best treatment. It gets at the root of the trouble, cleanses the blood of impurities, increases the circulation, produces blood that is rich in nourishment—blood that will build up broken-down tissues.

It will not be long before you notice a decided improvement—you will feel the blood coursing through your veins, your appetite increased, the food will be absorbed in the proper manner and the skin will become clear and healthy.

You will never regret having used Nyal's Hot Springs Blood Remedy—It will put you on your feet

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Touring Car

Looking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator.

Slanting windshield and one-piece top lend material aid in giving the entire car a lower, more stylish appearance.

An apron connecting the radiator with the fenders also is a decided improvement.

A comfort feature much appreciated by owners, is the additional leg room provided by the enlargement of the cowl.

RUTH'S PITCHING OUTBID BATTING IN WORLD'S SERIES

NEW YORK— (By the A. P.) George Herman Ruth, known to fans simply as "Babe" the outstanding star of the major leagues this season, whose batting and all-round ability contributes largely to the winning of the third pennant by the Yankees, played his first championship game with the Baltimore International League club April 22, 1914.

Baltimore played Buffalo that day. Ruth pitched, allowing six hits, passing four men and striking out four. Baltimore won 6 to 0. Baltimore's second sacker was Neal Ball, the first major league player to make an unassisted triple play. Ball had made his tripie killing five years before while playing with Cleveland against the Boston Red Sox.

Ruth made his first appearance in the majors on July 11, 1914, with the Boston Red Sox, as a pitcher. He twirled seven innings against Cleveland, being taken out so that Duffy Lewis could pinch hit for him. The Red Sox won 4 to 3, Ruth getting credit for the victory. He struck out one man and passed none.

The 1916 series between the Red Sox and the Brooklyn Superbas was Ruth's first championship experience. He defeated Brooklyn 2 to 1, in 14 innings on October 9, holding the Dodgers runless for the last 13 innings. In the 1918 series between the Red Sox and Chicago Cubs, Ruth won two games. On September 5 he turned back the Cubs without a score, 1 to 0, and his runless inning's record for the world's series was increased to 22. Four days later he again defeated the Cubs 3 to 2. The brace of Chicago runs came in the eighth so that Ruth increased his runless inning record to 29.

Ruth's all-round ability as a pitcher, outfielder, first baseman and walloper extraordinary had drawn him to the top of the star list, and in 1920 he became a member of the New York American League club. In his last season with Boston he had hit 29 home runs. In the first season in New York he swung his bat into 54 homers, a new all-time mark, and in the following year increased his record to 59.

Last year due to many days of enforced idleness, his batting averages dropped. He accounted for 35 home runs, however. All this year he has been around the top of the batting list in both leagues. He has been a flash on the bases, a great bulwark of defense in the outfield, and proved a stimulant generally to the play of the Yankees.

JONES GIVES MEN GRUELLING WORK

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 9.— With a few days left before the opening of the conference season, Coach Howard Jones sent his candidates thru a gruelling practice tonight, a practice that included instruction and work in every department of the game.

Offense and defense alike were drilled in forward passes, end runs, line bucks and kicking practice constituted signal drill, while in a long scrimmage, he worked both 'varsity and seconds to the limit.

Fleckenstine, who played guard for the first two games was shifted to tackle last night and again tonight and it is practically certain that he will be named to start Saturday in place of Krasuski who is out of the game because of injuries.

TICKET SALE BEGINS FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

The sale of tickets for the Saturday game between the I. S. D. Tigers and the Champaign High school on Illini field has begun and from the advance demand it is believed that a large number will be sold as the Tigers have a great many admirers among the local football fans.

The Tigers need good gate receipts very badly, according to Coach Robey Burns who states that in last Saturday's game against the Palmyra team the gate receipts just about paid one half of the expense of getting the team here. The athletic treasury at the school is never very heavy and they are left sometimes in a very hard way when the gate receipts fail to meet actual expenses. But with no other game in the city next Saturday and with the chance to see the snappy Tigers go up against the best team in the state, a team which has been scored against only twice in six years' playing, there is not much doubt that the gate will be satisfactory.

Mention was made recently that negotiations were on for a game with the Bowen High school of Chicago. These arrangements have now been completed and the Tigers will go to Chicago for the game with them on November 17th.

Miss Annie T. Loar has returned from a few days' visit in Chicago, where she accompanied her sister, Miss Mary J. Loar, who has just returned to the government position she holds in Washington. Miss Mary Loar has spent the past month in Jacksonville.

Punt Is Football's Greatest Play, Says Famous Grid Coach

BY ROBERT C. ZUPPKE

Football Coach, University of Illinois, Author of "Football Technique and Tactics"

A sound football system teaches its quarterback and captain that the punt is its greatest play, and encourages the quarter to punt when in doubt; that on every perfectly executed punt, backed up by a well-drilled team, the ball is given to the opponents in exchange for 40 yards of valuable territory.

ZUPPKE

Should the opponent's receiver prove himself a trouble maker, it is much better to kick out of bounds, but, on the other hand, should the receiver allow himself to be easily worried and tackled, it may prove profitable to encourage the punter to kick the ball as high as possible so as to increase the chances of a fumble, for which the system has prepared its ends to be on the lookout.

On defense the system teaches its quarterback to signal for a fair catch if the punt is high and the opponent's ends close, or, if he can catch it on or within the opponents's thirty-yard line, in which case the rules allow a choice between a free kick for goal and a scrimmage.

It teaches its men what to do with a loose ball, the result of a punt that is allowed to roll, and it advises the quarter when to call for an onside kick, and when to expect one from the opponent, and it asks him to remind his forwards which opponent they are to take, should the opponents line up ostensibly for such a kick.

The quarterback is taught when to call for a drop or place kick in preference to a running play or forward pass, how to protect the play on offense, and how to break it up when on defense.

The system should prove to the team that as a rule it is far better to kick off than it is to receive the ball at the start of the game and that a team should not choose to receive the kick-off unless seven points behind with approximately five minutes left to play.

A team guided by such a system takes less risk than one depending upon the whims and gueses of the average quarterback.

WORLD'S SERIES RECORDS REVEAL BATTING HEROES

NEW YORK—(By the A P)— Batting feats in world's series, although eclipsed in brilliance by the work of the pitchers, have been the outstanding features in many games of the annual classic.

Few players have been able to gather as many as four hits in one world's series game. The records show ten men to have accomplished this feat.

In 1903 Tom Leach, of the Pirates, gathered two singles and two triples off Young, of the Red Sox. Clarence Beaumont, Pirates accounted for four singles off Dineen of the Red Sox, in another game of the same series.

Frank Isbell, of the Chicago White Sox, doubled four times in the October 13 game of 1906 off Reulbach, Pfeister and Overall of the Cubs. Another White Sox player, Edgar Hahn, bumped Brown and Overall, of the Cubs, for four singles in another game of the same series.

In 1908 Ty Cobb of the Tigers, spanked the ball for three singles and a double off Pfeister and Reulbach of the Cubs.

Larry Doyle, New York Nationals, found Coombs and Plank, Athletics, for two singles and two doubles, Oct. 25, 1911. The following day Dan Murphy, Athletics, batted out three singles and a double off Wiltse, Ames and Marquard, of the Giants.

Three New York Giants collected four hits in the 1921 series with the Yankees. Frank Frisch batted out four singles off Carl Mays' delivery October 5. In the October 7 game, with Shawkey, Collins, Quinn and Rogers pitching for the Yankees, George Burns connected for two singles, a doube and triple, while Frank Snyder, the Giant catcher, made four singles.

The batting star of last year's Giant-Yankee series was little Heine Groh. In the first game Groh walked once and connected for two singles and one triple off Bush and Hoyt.

The first world's series player to clean the bases with a long hit was George Rohe, a substitute player for the White Sox in the 1906 series. Rohe's three base hit off Pfeister, a Cub southpaw, scored three runners. The second "clean-up" hero was Elmer Smith, of the Cleveland Indians, who d ideven better by hitting a home run with three men on in the October 10 game of 1920 with Brooklyn. Burleigh Grimes pitched for Brooklyn.

Ross Young, of the Giants, connected with one of Warren Collins' surves in the 1921 series for a triple when the bases were full. Earlier in the same inning with Jack Quinn pitching for the Yanks, Young drove out a double.

BIG TEN TEAMS HARD AT WORK

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Football mentors of the Big Ten are busy this week correcting weaknesses shown by their elevens in opening games last week, to have the teams in readiness for first conference games next Saturday.

Illinois, which jumped into championship speculation as a result of its defeat of Nebraska in its opening game on Saturday, started to strengthen its ends during scrimmage against Butler plays. Butler, next Saturday's opponent, defeated Illinois last year. Harold Grange, sophomore, who made his first appearance for the Illini Saturday and proved the star of the game, has proven a great asset to Illinois offense tactics while Britton, another sophomore and McElwain demonstrated line plunging ability that will make the Illini offense a matter to be considered carefully by every opponent the Indians face.

The two most important non-conference games scheduled for Saturday are the Michigan-Vanderbilt contest, and the clash between Ohio State and Colgate. Michigan and Ohio State came thru their opening contest unscathed. In preliminary practice for Colgate, Coach Wilce of the Buckeyes indicated he intends to use passes extensively.

Coach Ingram of Indiana, the only conference team defeated by a non-conference contender in opening games on Saturday, had one of the biggest tasks on his hands to get ready for the clash with Northwestern next Saturday. Undaunted by the 3 to 0 victory of DePauw, the Indiana team has started a week of hard work. Five of Indiana's men made their initial appearance on Saturday against the DePauw eleven, many of which were veterans. Coach Ingram said he expected to change all his plays for the Northwestern contest.

Wisconsin and Minnesota, neither of which made a particularly enviable showing Saturday began a long grind of practice with the Wisconsin home-coming game with Minnesota on October 27 as the goal of both teams. Wisconsin's offense is in need of a lot of improvement, judging by results of its game with Coe and Minnesota had a line that often crumbled when it was hit.

Purdue and Iowa meet in the only other conference contests scheduled for next Saturday. Iowa is expected to shift its lineup considerably for the Purdue game to plug up the hole left by the injured Krasuski.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart and daughter, Catherine, of Winchester, were visitors in Jacksonville Tuesday.

WINCHESTER

CUBS AND SOX START THEIR ANNUAL SERIES

OHIO HURLERS LEAD LEAGUES

ADOLFO LUQUE

GEORGE UHLE

By NEA Service

CINCINNATI—When the final figures are posted it will be seen that Ohio, state of presidents and beauty queens, will furnish the leading big league hurlers in both leagues.

Adolfo Luque of Cincinnati, with 27 victories, is the national league leader, with no one close enough to threaten his supremacy.

George Uhle of Cleveland, with 25 victories, is almost equally secure in his position atop the American League list.

In winning 27 games for the Reds this year the veteran Cuban surpassed by two the leading total of 1922 set by his teammate Eppa Rixey, and tied the highwater mark of last year for both leagues, set by Eddie Rommel of the Athletics.

It is interesting to note that in physical build the two pitching premiers of the waning season are totally unalike. Luque is short and stocky. Uhle is tall and rather heavily built. Luque is 33 years old. Uhle is approaching 27. Luque is a curve ball pitcher, with tidy speed and a good bean on his shoulders. Uhle has one of the best knuckle balls in captivity.

U. OF I. WORKING FOR MUCH STRONGER TEAM

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 9.—The Illinois line looked poor in scrimmage tonight, the first since the Nebraska game. Coach Bob Zuppke is bending the larger portion of his energies toward building a strong forward wall but to date his attempts have been only moderately successful. The freshmen, using Iowa plays romped thru the 'varsity for a pair of touchdowns.

The line is beginning to work together but tackling was ragged.

Chambers and Mayer replaced Miller at right guard but otherwise the same line was used that opened against Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Weakley left last night for Los Angeles, Calif., to attend the funeral of their daughter, Mrs. Bertha Weakley Preston.

FACTS

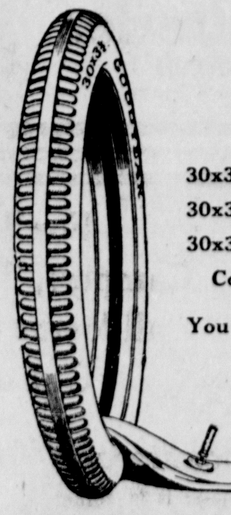

According to records in the Secretary of State's office, Studebaker outsold all other makes of cars in the first six months of 1923 in Wayne County, Michigan (of which Detroit is the county seat) with the exception of Ford and Chevrolet.

Detroit knows motor cars and motor car values, because the majority of the population is engaged directly or indirectly in some phase of the motor car industry.

Detroit knows Studebaker because of the large production of Studebaker cars in that city, and Detroit is partial to Studebaker cars for just one reason—the merit of the product.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MANCHESTER CITIZEN SUNDAY

Friends and Relatives Gather at Home of David Barber and Help Him Celebrate His 54th Anniversary.

Manchester, Oct. 9.—A pleasant birthday surprise was given David Barber of Manchester, Sunday, October 7th. The surprise was planned by Mrs. Barber. In order to surprise him she had a friend of his to come down to the house and take him to an apple orchard near Hillview, to get some apples and while he was away the guests arrived at the Barber home.

When he came home he was certainly surprised. The tables were soon spread with everything that was good to eat. The dining room was beautifully decorated and the tables were decorated with red dahlias. This was Mr. Barber's fifty-fourth birthday and the first time that he had ever been surprised.

Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wells and family, of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs Hennery Hudson and son, Wayne, of Manchester; Mrs. H. E. Spencer and children; Sarah Goacher, of Arkansas. Mrs. Goacher was formerly, Mrs. Sarah Barber; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Catter, Miss Hazel Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. John I. Story, Mrs. Jane Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carmean, Charles Walker and family; Charles Sanders and wife and daughter, Martha Ellen; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barber and children, James Barber, Erch Barber and Miss Ella Barber; Mr. and Mrs. Merrian Hart, of Franklin; Mrs. Thomas Spencer, and grandsons, S. Kenneth and Leland; Mrs. Nettie Blackburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barber and wife. The photographer from Roodhouse, was called and all had their pictures taken in a group, and then all of the brothers and sisters and Mr. Barber had their picture taken together.

Mrs. Nettie Blackburn and Mrs. Robert Barber won the contest of cake eating. Mrs. Sanders said that she could have won if she had entered but some how or some way she didn't enter. S. Kenneth Spencer and Miss Josephine Walker won the contest for eating the longest of any one there.

That sweet potato contest was won by Mrs. Ed Carmean. There were several others in the crowd that had their birthdays in the same month, Byron Spencer's birthday was on the same day of Mr. Barber's, Sarah Goacher's was October 1st, Mrs. Matt Cotters' was the 10th and Mr. Cotters' was Oct. 4th. Ed Carmean's was Oct. 5th., Mrs. Merrian Hart's was the 4th. Everyone departed at a very late hour wishing Mr. Barber many more happy birthdays.

Produce Review

The preliminary report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture of storage holdings as of October 1, shows the following butter and eggs in storage:

Creamery Butter—Five year average, 101,976,000 pounds; Oct. 1, 1922, 96,680,000 pounds; Oct. 1, 1923, 95,673,000 pounds.

Eggs—Five year average, 6,343,000 cases; Oct. 1, 1922, 7,924,000 cases; Oct. 1, 1923, 8,681,000 cases.

An analysis of this report indicates that while there was a shortage of nearly 12,000,000 pounds of butter on Sept. 1, the shortage has been reduced to about 1,000,000 pounds on October 1, indicating clearly that not as much butter in storage was required for current use as a year ago. This might be due to an increase in the production or a decrease in the consumption, or both.

The market on 90 score Standards opened at 44 cents on Monday, October 1. During the week it advanced to 46 cents for a day, but buyers lost interest on further purchases after publication of the reports and the butter market quickly declined, and today is quoted at 44 cents, the same price as a week ago.

While receipts of fresh eggs continue on quite a liberal scale, interest of the trade centers largely in the situation on storage eggs. On Sept. 1, the statistical situation indicated an excess of over 200,000 cases. The October 1st report, mentioned above, shows an excess of 756,000 cases.

Consumption of eggs will have to continue on a much more liberal scale in order that there may be a fair reduction in the storage holdings. Prices are now below the cost of eggs in storage, plus carrying charges. An increased use of eggs, both fresh and storage will prove helpful. The slogan, "Two eggs a lay, will clean up the lay," correctly expresse the situation.

An increase in the movement of live poultry is noted in the northern states, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and parts of Nebraska, which have not, heretofore, been moving a lot of poultry, are now beginning to market their large poultry crop. The lower market prevailing in the larger cities in the country for live poultry has caused some adjustment in the paying prices.

EGG SITUATION IS REVIEWED

Market Reporter Calls Attention to Unsatisfactory Condition—Wide Range of Prices Shown —More Care is Urged

Mr. Green of the local plant of Swift & Co. yesterday called attention to a recent article in the Market Reporter on the egg situation. The writer of the article discussed the subject in this way:

"On the whole, the market has continued extremely unsatisfactory for the great bulk of the supply. Really fine to fancy qualities, yielding a good to large proportion of full- strong-bodied, fresh production, have not been overplentiful, and for such, values have been sustained.

"Eggs reaching the larger marketing places, are graded into various classifications, according to the number of fine, fresh eggs in each case.

"The quotations at New York on September 29, follow:

Extras, dozen, 43-46c.
Extra firsts, dozen, 39-42c.
Firsts, dozen, 34-38c.
Seconds and poorer, 27-33c.

"The bulk of the arrivals falls into the last two classifications.

"What is wrong with the present method of marketing eggs, that permits of such a wide range in prices, is a question frequently asked," Mr. Green said. "The answer is that not enough thought is given to the marketing problem.

"Eggs are freshest and best when first laid, but they should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place, and marketed frequently.

"Why do those producers who take good care of their eggs, continue selling their's at the same price for a dozen that someone else receives who is not careful to market strictly fresh eggs?

"Why not insist on a better price for eggs of a quality that will sell at the top market price, instead of accepting an average price that is brought down to a common level by old, held stock?

"We are heartily in sympathy with any plan that may be developed that will bring the producers of good eggs better prices and put the burden of low prices on those who neglect to take proper care of their egg production."

S. S. L. DISCOVERS IN CITY REAL SUFFERING

Speaker at Annual Meeting of League Tells of Dark Homes and Dire Conditions in Jacksonville

The fact that there are dark and fearsome spots in this city of which few of its citizens know, was impressed last night on those who attended the annual banquet and meeting of the Social Service league. The meeting was held at the Congregational church, and was attended by over a hundred persons. The main speaker of the evening was Dr. Thomas W. Smith, who revealed some startling and deplorable conditions which he had encountered in visiting several homes of the poor and unfortunate of our city.

The speaker told of homes where the father and mother both work and several children are left alone thru the day to care for themselves as best they can. He told of homes where the floors are bare and dirty, where six or more persons live in one room, where the house is falling into ruins about the inhabitants. There are homes in which rats run about the house at will, where aged and infirm people are exposed to danger and disease. In some homes the food is scarce, consisting of black tea and a few bites of some poorly prepared victuals. There are homes that cannot be called homes where sin and dire poverty unite in grinding down victims, where little ones are neglected and every member of the family is starved and pinched, mentally, morally and physically.

In closing his address Dr. Smith drew the conclusion that to help these unfortunates, to alleviate some of this suffering right in our midst, is true Christianity. Unless our Christian aspirations reach farther than the smooth and sweet experiences of life, and down to where people cry for light and help, it is not worth having. The Social Service league exists for the purpose of helping these people, of relieving these conditions. Its workers are constantly on the alert to solve the problems, which are all too numerous in "darkest Jacksonville."

The president of the league, Rev. George E. Stickney, had charge of the meeting. Responses to the appeal of the league work were made by Judge H. P. Samuell for the Rotary club, who emphasized the fact that the work of the club and the league was along similar lines. B. F. Shafer spoke in behalf of the Kiwanis club and stated that the club motto "We Build," fitted in very well with the work the league is doing in seeking to rebuild character, wrecked homes and broken fortunes.

Directors Chosen

During the business session the following directors were elected to serve three years: Dr. Grace Dewey, Mrs. C. H. Russell, Miss Winifred Wackerle, Judge H. P. Samuell, J. H. Dial, Rev. G. W. Randle, Mrs. John Kastrup and J. E. Osborne. The only change in the list of those who served for the past three years came with the election of Rev. Mr. Randle, who took the place of Mrs. E. W. Brown, resigned. Dr. F. P. Norbury was elected to the board of directors to fill a vacancy.

The report of the treasurer, A. C. Rice, showed that thus far $1,715.60 has been raised toward the $3,000 which the league needs for its work during the coming year. It is hoped to raise the remainder of the amount within a few days. During the past year the league has had an available fund of $5,798.34, while total disbursements have been $6,229.65, leaving an overdraft at the close of the league year, Sept. 30, $431.31. However, the funds due the league from the county have since been paid, the overdraft has been considerably reduced.

Portions of the report of Miss Eva E. Viers, the league executive secretary, are highly interesting to the public. The following results of the family welfare work are significant:

Two hundred seventy-two families have been known to the Social Service league during the past year, of which 66 were new and eight recurrent.

Problems presented — Physical disability or illness, unemployment, poor management, old age, begging habit or tendency, widow without adequate support, bad housing, sexual immorality, neglect of children, mental defectiveness, domestic infelicity, insufficient income, illegitimacy, indebtedness, venereal diseases, desertion, intemperance, children under 16 working, non-support, separated, insanity, gambling, eviction, divorce, imprisonment, blindness, epilepsy and calamity.

In the efforts of the league to know and to eradicate causes as well as to alleviate suffering a total of 1,659 visits were made to families; 2,005 visits to interested individuals and organizations; 812 letters written, 2,985 telephone calls; 2,563 clients called at office; 24 committee meetings attended and six talks made to local groups.

A total of 111 cases have been known to the league during the past year in the probation department. There have been 28 juvenile court hearings. In the school attendance department 994 absences were reported, with only 39 cases of truancy. It was found, however, that 398 absences were due to negligence of parents, 121 to ill health and 24 to lack of clothing on the part of the children.

The various local and county agencies which have been cooperating with the Social Service league are:

County commissioners, Anti-Tuberculosis association, churches of the city, community clinic, Illinois State School for the Blind, Illinois State School for the Deaf, Jacksonville State hospital, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Our Saviour's hospital, Passavant hospital, New Home Sanatorium, Oak Lawn Sanatorium, police department, Red Cross, Salvation Army, school nurses, Morgan County Bar association, Jacksonville Clinical association, Morgan county farm, Morgan county health department, Jacksonville Woman's club, Business and Professional Women's club.

The Social Service league of Jacksonville seeks to provide for those with whom it comes in contact normal life, health, employment, education, recreation and spiritual development.

HOSPITAL HYGIENE CLASSES ON HIKE

The hygiene class of Passavant hospital numbering nine students accompanied by the superintendent, Miss Ida B. Venner and Mrs. Vivian Neil, R. N., hiked to Mauvaisterre Lake Tuesday morning. After thoroughly inspecting the city filtering plant under the guidance of Messrs. Stoldt, Quinn, and Young, they finished their hike around the lake. Later they gathered sufficient wild flowers and autumn leaves to decorate all of the dining trays at the hospital after they returned about noon.

WANT OAK LAWN TO BE CONTINUED

Tuberculosis League Will Actively Oppose Proposal to Discontinue Sanatorium

Members of the Anti-Tuberculosis league are planning a campaign to oppose the proposal of abandoning Oak Lawn sanatorium. Recently a petition was filed asking that the question of discontinuing the sanatorium be submitted to the people at the next election. The league is decidedly in favor of continuing the sanatorium and believes that to close it now would mean the loss of the larger portion of the $150,000 that the county has invested there.

The local organization is to be assisted in the campaign by the state Anti-Tuberculosis association. The local society has done a great deal of excellent work since it was organized in 1905. It fostered the open air school and has done much anti-tuberculosis work thru clinics.

NEW SUITS FILED.

A petition has been filed in the circuit court by the Farmers State Bank and Trust Co., in the estate of Sarah J. Middleton, asking that report as trustees be approved. The petitioners are represented by William T. Wilson.

Two suits in assumpsit were filed by the Farmers State Bank of Ashland against W. W. Robertson. The suits are based on notes of indebtedness totaling approximately $11,000. Barber & Barber are attorneys for the complainant.

George Smith of Springfield is a guest of his brother C. H. Smith of 226 Westminster street.

LIVESTOCK SALE NEXT WEEK AT WHITE HALL

White Hall, Oct. 9.—The first catalog for a livestock sale in years at White Hall has been issued by A. E. Knight for a Duroc Jersey hog sale next Thursday on his farm, one mile west of White Hall. Mr. Knight lists 66 head, including 34 spring gilts, 25 spring boars, five junior yearling sows, one aged sow and one aged boar. Up to the time of the World War, White Hall had attained notable distinction for pure bred livestock sales, and there has since been litle activity along the line of such important sales. It would appear that a revival is imminent with the appearance of the small 16-page catalog by Mr. Knight. During the lull nothing has been heard on the proposition for providing a sale pavilion, but something has been said along that line in recent weeks in connection with proposed plans for a new garage venture.

Mrs. Charles T. Mackness and daughter, Miss Alma, have returned to the city after a week's visit with Mrs. Arthur R. Rutledge, of Detroit.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN THE BALKANS IS INVESTIGATED

Russian Soviet Minister to Norway Discusses Development of Trade Relations and Russia's Exports and Imports—Social Conditions in Norway—Late European News

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(By the A. P.)—Madame Kollanty. soviet minister to Norway, is now in Berlin to consult with members of the Russian embassy here concerning trade conditions in the Baltic countries.

"I have found that the development of trade relations in Russia and Norway is extremely fascinating work," Madame Kollanty told the correspondent. "I am gratified at the exportation of Russian grain to Norway. In exchange for the grain Norway is shipping paper to Russia, especially print paper of which we have great need since the newspapers are reviving rapidly.

"Russia always imported considerable paper, and although we have restored the paper mills and our paper industry is in a better condition perhaps than any other, we cannot meet the demand.

"We are also selling Norway some wheat ,but our chief export to that country is rye, and we are getting considerable business which the U. S. formerly had."

Madame Kollanty is soviet Russia's chief feminist leader. When asked as to the condition of women in Norway she replied that inasmuch as women have the ballot and legislation for the protection of women and children has been extremely comprehensive, she finds social conditions there excellent.

"The trouble with most of the women in Norway and elsewhere" she continued, "is that they have too many housekeeping responsibilities. Women cannot do woman's and man's work, too, without slighting one, or over-taxing her powers."

Madam Kollanty said her sex had been no handicap to her work in Norway.

Traffic problems in the American cities may be further complicated if the flying tricycle which a Bavarian concern manufacturers proves successful. This machine is designed to operate in city streets, to sail the ocean, or to fly. It is a combination of airplane, seaplane and motor car, and has folding wings which can be adjusted so as to traverse the ordinary highways.

The machine weighs less than 200 pounds, has a four and one-half horse power motor and is only 12 feet long. It can carry oil for a five mile flight, according to the manufacturers, and will have a maximum speed of 125 kilometers an hour.

Oppeln, the Upper Selesian mining center that figured prominently in the riots growing out of the transfer of part of Silesia to Poland, has declared itself bankrupt in formal communication to the district authorities.

Swinemunde not long ago found itself in the same condition but the town was assisted by the central government in re-establishing its finances on a workable basis.

Oppeln is a city of 30,000 inhabitants. It was formerly the seat of the Upper Silesian dukes of the Piasten Dynasty, and was part of the independent kingdom of Saxony. It played an important part in both the seven years' war and the thirty-year war and has a famous castle that is now used as an official building.

Oppeln and Swinemunde have gone through the same experiences as most German cities in trying to increase taxes to meet the decline of the mark, but they stand alone in that they have admitted bankruptcy. There is little doubt, however, that this is also the condition of scores of other municipalities, which are struggling to keep out of the hands of the receiver.

Appeals have appeared in the newspapers asking former residents of German cities to lend them financial assistance, and Philanthropists who desire to take a town or city for a ward have a wide choice.

NEW METHODS ARE EVOLVED FOR THE GIVING OF SERUM

The Anti-Typhoid May Now be Swallowed Instead of Injected—Method Given Official Recognition by Besredka of Pasteur Institute—Other Interesting Paris News

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(By the A. P.) —A new method of anti-typhoid vaccination, by which serum is swallowed instead of injected, has just received official recognition through the inclusion of the name of Professor Alexandre Besredka of the Pasteur Institute in the list of those connected with the Legion of Honor on the occasion of the pasteur centenary.

One of the last works in which the late Prof. Elie Metchnikoff was engaged was a search for the simple means of vaccination against typhoid. Although the existing method had proved their value during the war they had serious drawbacks in that a skilled staff was necessary to apply them and the discomfort following the first injection was liable to induce many to avoid vaccination altogether or neglect the remainder of the treatment.

These defects, if easy to overcome in the case of a disciplined army, made application to the ordinary civil population a difficult matter. On Professor Metchnikoff's death his work in this direction was carried on by his pupil and collaborator, Prof. Besredka, who started from the principle that every microbe has its favorite tissue which is attacked exclusively, so that by inoculating this tissue the whole body becomes refractory to infection.

Besredka established that the chosen tissue for typhoid is the intestine, and he succeeded in preparing a vaccine which taken through the mouth, reaches the intestine quicker than by ordinary vaccination.

While equally efficacious against the microbe it can be administered by anybody, being taken like an ordinary medical tablet, or capsule.

With the price of Havana cigars already at a point where, according to the French, nobody but Americans could afford to smoke them, the minister of finance has decreed an increase in taxes ranging from forty centimes on the cheaper brands to two francs on the dearer. Havanas now will cost from two to 13 francs each or from 12 to 75 cents, according to the average rate of exchange during September.

The increase is mainly ascribed to the fall of the franc and according to the French authorities still leaves these cigars cheaper in France than in Spain or England. Prime minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, wo is always represented with a pipe in his mouth, except when barred by diplomatic protocol also indulges in cigars, according to a good woman, who supplied his tobacco wants during his recent visit to Aix-Les-Bains.

The increase in the price of Havanas, however, will not affect him, as according to this authority, he bought every morning ten French made cigars of the kind as "crapulos," 10 of which may be procured for the equivalent of less than three cents.

Mrs. Hugh C. Wallace, wife of the former American ambassador to France, who has been gravely ill for three months, is now recovering, and with her husband expects to return to the United States the latter part of the present month. They are going to their home in Tacoma, Wash.

When the clerk of the court opened the case brought by Frank J. Gould, to prevent his divorced wife, Edith Kelly Gould from using the Gould name on the stage, he called out the name of Rene Viviani as attorney for the plaintiff. Those in the court room looked eagerly for the reappearance of the former premier and great orator who had been absent from the law court and parliament for many months, but were disappointed when Viviani's secretary arose instead and took charge of the case.

Thec hances are that his chief will be missed from his former occupations for some time to come as he has not recovered from the nervous breakdown that occurred shortly after the death of Mme Viviani. He is having the best care that medical science can give, in the sanitorium where the late president Deschanel sought recovery from the wear and tear of political life, but his condition at present is said to offer little prospect of early recovery.

Travels In Japan

By S. W. Nichols

Enomoto, another rebel, who espoused the cause of Keiki was pardoned. Then there were in various provinces nobles or daimyos who much preferred the old order of things, kept up vendettas and the like. For a time they were left undisturbed in their estates and provinces but they were a constant source of annoyance and had to give up their rule but the emperor so managed them that they did so voluntarily and matters were much simplified.

The treaty with Russia after the Russo-Japanese war, was a great humiliation to the Japanese army and people for they were plainly victorious but the country had simply come to the bottom of the treasury and had to stop and taking all things into consideration it was a good thing it was accomplished and the emperor bravely assumed the responsibility.

Then too, he stood by little Admiral Togo who went directly contrary to orders from the navy department in handling the Russian fleet. The admiral knew he was right and calling his captains together told them what he meant to do and they agreed to stand by him and he went ahead, did up the czar's fleet, disobeyed orders but was acclaimed a victor and the emperor stood by him.

He also promised a constitutional government but it took twenty years to bring it about but it was wise for the change could not prudently be made sooner. It was a great day when the parliament was convened and it contained some able statesmen. I visited it during various sittings and while I was unable to understand the language I was impressed by the orderly manner in which all was conducted; very different from the conduct of the Chinese law-makers whom I visited in Pekin. There the lower house especially, acted like a conglomeration of schoolboys.

There was very general lamentation when the emperor died and his funeral was a gorgeous affair the ancient and the modern being mingled. To carry the casket a special, magnificent cart drawn by oxen was constructed, and afterwards placed in a museum where I saw it.

The emperor's palace is a fine affair, there again the medieval and modern meet each other. The grounds are in the center of the city surrounded by moats and massive ramparts of stone surmounted by crooked pines which in the old days of medieval warfare afforded very good shelter for the archers of the garrison. In the center of all the building, before it an immense space of grass dotted here and there with pines occupying the [illegible] between the second and third moats. Each moat has a [illegible] banks, a favorite resort of sea birds which nest and rear their young for like the stork in Straslburg, they are free from molestation.

The palace is placed over a broad [illegible] crossing the first moat, and then an avenue leads to the Wade Hori Gate. Mon, or Sakurada Gate. Unlike the simplicity of the approaches [illegible] attempt at gorgeousness being made. Two approaches lead to the inner palace, the gate on the left being for ordinary people and the other for officers of state.

The palace itself is a one story structure and very plain in general appearance. Many attend the new year recentions given by the emperor and empress and, like similar affairs at the White House in Washington they are tedious enough. Slowly the stream of callers passes by and the ruler bows with regularity to them all. As one is ushered into the august presence he advances, makes three low bows, doubtless very awkwardly if a foreigner, and then backs out of the door opposite the one by which he entered.

Swallow tail coats are expected of gentlemen and black silk of ladies but they must be endured.

Behind the palace are very beautiful gardens but they are not open to the public and one has to exercise his imagination regarding them. Sometimes, in the estimation of the old timers, the emperor is looked on as an intermediary between the people and the gods, but that is becoming obsolete as knowledge advances.

The late emperor of Japan, father of the present ruler, was a remarkable character. There is no danger of the crown passing from the royal family in Japan for want of heirs as the law provides that, in case the empress bears no children, the emperor may seek by other means to have a child of his own succeed him which is said to have been the case with the official mentioned. The emperor was called to the throne by death of his father in 1867 and being very young, like Josiah, the child king of Israel who was fortunate in having the statesman-priest, Jehoidah to look after affairs, he had a wise prince, Iwakura, assisted by another, Sanjo, to conduct affairs till he grew old enough to look after things himself. They didn't have any Athaliah to kill which was fortunate, and the kingdom prospered under their rule.

Other patriotic statesmen stood by the young monarch also and his reign was, on the whole, a success in many ways. He was a hard working man, at his desk early in the morning and late at night. He was always ready to receive any statesman who had important business to attend to and he was kind in his disposition.

It is told of him that during the Russo-Japanese war he kept on his desk a piece of the hard, black bread the soldiers had to eat and also made it a large part of his daily menu. He was always frank and straightforward in his dealings and could bear nothing else in any of his followers. It is told of him that he couldn't bear anything like tale-bearing or underhand work among his official household and if any one brought to him a questionable story regarding another officer he would send for the latter, have the accuser and accused face to face and the story repeated and matters made right. By this means tale-bearing soon became an undesirable pastime among the officers surrounding the ruler.

Of course there are many stories told of him and for their truthfulness I do not vouch. The royal family is generally kept rather secluded but when his higness was a lad perhaps ten or twelve years old he escaped from the palace and in ordinary clothes sought the streets of the great city. Boy-like he took up with a group of urchins, for, as I have previously stated, children play in Japan as in no other land.

They were playing their favorite game which much resembles our hopscotch, when the young prince saw another boy rather imposed on by a sort of bully among the children and took his part whereupon the bully turned his attention to the royal lad and, being much larger and stronger, was getting away with him when a laborer happening along that way, took the part of the boy and gave the bully a good thrashing. Just what happened when he went home no one knows, of course, but it is possible papa emperor meted out to him a punishment which was deemed just.

Years afterward, when he was emperor he saw in the street one day as he was passing along, a weak, old cripple trying to earn a scant livelihood by selling some sort of confection. He recognized in the man the one who had stood by him when he was in trouble with the bully and paralyzed the old fellow with a generous gift of gold. Let us hope the tale is true at any rate.

The emperor had a sad experience when General Nogi, some years ago, committed suicide, his wife imitating his example not long after. The rugged old general felt the army was getting too effeminate and easy and seemed to want to give the soldiers an example of stern duty and devotion to the country. Before he committed the deed he called before him the emperor's son, the present ruler, and gave him good advice and then went to his apartments and ended his life with a dagger. It was a remnant, if I may so term it, of the feeling of feudal days when it was the proper thing for a prominent man to end his life in various ways.

The emperor showed wonderfull leniency to many who would have been candidates for severe punishment. He was deeply religious and while it was in heathen fashion, still there were many elements of good in his conduct. For instance, the last of the Shoguns, Keiki, set up a rival kingdom and claimed to be entitled to the throne. By all law and precedent he should have lost his head but the emperor pardoned him.

The new 3-minute breakfast delight

Cakes—of all-wheat—50% lighter than old-time pancakes—digest quicker!

Make and serve in 3 minutes!

Actual cross-section view of old-time pancakes, and SUN-RAY cakes. Note how much lighter this new, all-wheat cake is. That means easier, quicker digestion.

Here's something brand new!

Breakfast cakes of all-wheat; like beaten cream in lightness, tender, sweet as fresh berries.

And they take less time to prepare—from package to plate—than toast. You make and serve them in 3 short minutes!

Now we invite you to enjoy a breakfast of these all-wheat cakes at our expense.

Lighter, because all-wheat

Old-time pancakes were usually heavy, fat-saturated, rather indigestible. Rice, corn, or other "filler" made them so.

But all-wheat cakes—the new, 3-minute delight—are the airiest, daintiest morsels ever put before you. And so they are easy and quick of digestion.

Strength-food, too

They are made of Kansas wheat—the world's choicest grain. So a breakfast of these cakes is richly nourishing. It gives you the 18 vital elements that build bone and brawn, that produce energy and strength.

Because so light and tender, they digest in half the time required for pancakes made the old way. Eat ten or a dozen. No digestive difficulty follows.

We're anxious that you shall know and enjoy this new breakfast treat. It is our supreme achievement in 50 years of milling experience. So we want to supply your first breakfast free. Clip the coupon now. Present it at any store listed.

After that first taste, you'll eat many such breakfasts. Each time you'll thank us.

REACTIONARY TONE ON GENERAL LIST

FINANCIAL

Total stock sales 714,300 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 88.06; net loss .50.

High 1923; 105.38; low 96.92.

Twenty railroads averaged 83.08; net loss .39.

High 1923; 90.51; low 79.53

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Speculators for the decline continued in control of today's stock market the general list displaying a reactionary tone notwithstanding further evidence that good support for a number of the rail and industrial shares.

News developments again were largely ignored as market factors altho the cut in crude prices by the California Petroleum company was regarded as a contributory cause to the renewed heaviness of some of the oil shares. Wall street appeared to be indifferent to the increasing expressions of confidence in fall and winter business by bankers and industrial leaders.

Germany's rapidly depreciating currency touched a new low record at six cents a hundred million.

Heaviness of the railroad shares was generally ascribed to the failure of operators on the long side to attract a public following by the recent advance of that group.

United States Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can closed irregularly within a small fraction of yesterday's final figures. Estimates of the reduction in unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation to be made public tomorrow range from 250,000 to 400,000 tons. U. S. Steel common closed unchanged at 87¼ altho it had touched 86½ earlier in the day.

Call money opened at 5½ per cent but softened to 4½ before the close.

Active U. S. government bonds found a better market, practically all of the liberty issues moving upward.

Total sales (par value) $8,453,000.

MARKET BROKEN BY HEAVY SELLING

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Heavy selling on the part of recent buyers broke down values in the wheat market today. The selling appeared to be largely a result of disappointment that the wheat conference here gave no promise of farm relief of an immediate character. Closing prices were unsettled 2⅜ to 2½ net lower with December 1.07¾ to 1.07¾ and May 1.12¼ to 1.12⅜. Corn finished at a range varying from 1¼ decline to ¼c gain, oats ¼ to ⅜ to ¾ @⅞c down and provisions showing 2c to 22c fall.

It was evident almost as soon as trading began that the action of the wheat conference here in planning a new co-operative marketing association had failed to encourage confidence in a continued upward tendency of prices at present. Absence of fresh buying was so noticeable that selling pressure quickly increased and the volume of offerings became more of a burden than the market could withstand.

Rallying power seemed to be almost entirely lacking, and the close was at near the bottom figures of the day.

Bears pointed out that the new co-operative association even if finally successful could only function after the lapse of considerable time as the plan would be inoperative until 50 per cent of growers in the nine principal wheat states had joined the organization. Under such circumstances the plan would apparently offer little prospect to help so far as this year's crop is concerned.

Altho contract grades of corn for immediate delivery commanded $1.06 a bushel the highest price yet this season, future deliveries went down with meat.

Oats followed.

Provisions reflected the weakness of hog values and of grain.

CHICAGO SHAKING OFF A BAD NAME

Long Known as 'Crime Capital' of Country Because of Lack of Prosecutions

CHICAGO, Ill. (By the A. P.)—Chicago has finally shaken off the odoriferous appellation of "Crime Capital" of the country and swift justice for the law violator is rapidly reviving, according to a report of the criminal court of Cook county displaying a record of 1,227 convictions for the 11 months up to August 1, 1923.

The report was submitted to the Illinois Bar association by Chief Justice M. L. McKinley of the court and made public by the bar association thru the Associated Press.

A total of 2,745 indictments were disposed of in the period covered by the report. Defendants sent to penal institutions by the court numbered 953, while 231 were fined for minor offences and 324 first offenders were placed on probation.

Robbery, burglary, larceny and murder are the four leading crimes as represented by the number of convictions.

Murder Convictions

Of the 48 convictions for murder, nine of the defendants were sentenced to hang. A classification of the convictions on the basis of the number for each crime, is given by the report as follows: Murder, 48; manslaughter, 23; robbery without a weapon, 75; burglary, 60; larceny, 141; miscellaneous, crimes, 571.

This classification shows that the killing of human beings, both murder and manslaughter, was second in number only to robbery without a weapon and exceeded burglary by 12 convictions.

A strong personal pride in the results and a satisfaction in seeing the blot of crime washed from the fair name of Chicago, are expressed by Judge McKinley in submitting the report.

"Apart from the personal pride which I own to in the work of my associates of the criminal court bench during my incumbency as chief justice," wrote Judge McKinley, "I am prompted by a motive more impellent in making this report to the Illinois bar—the desire to dispel the deep impression prevailing in the profession that Chicago is the 'Crime Capital' of the country."

The rapid work of the court has resulted, the report said, in a reduction of pending indictment from 1,229 in September a year ago to 660 and in addition 2,176 true bills voted by various grand juries have been cleared from the calendars. The net result is that there now remain no emergency cases in which the defendants must be given trial this month or next month under the status providing four terms of court and any defendant desiring immediate trial may be given one within a week of indictment, the report said. The number of pending cases was at the lowest level for 10 years at the time the report was submitted.

"With a jail built to house 800 prisoners, slightly more than half-filled, court calendars cleared of all emergency cases, an army of 953 serving sentences and 10 condemned murders awaiting execution," continued Judge McKinley, "the results of this determined drive against major crime is reflected in a remarkable reduction in every classification of criminal law violations. A still more significant effect has been the awakened sense of civic responsibility among citizens of Chicago and Cook county with regard to jury service and the calibre of jurors has steadily risen."

GOOD MARKET FOR COOKS

Vienna. (By the A. P.)—"Don't come to America, girls, expecting to land at once comfortable jobs as stenographers or some other kind of 'high brow' office work," is the advice to Vienna young women given thru the newspapers by a Viennese now in New York.

"What Americans desire mostly so far as employees are concerned," says the writer of the letter, "are young women willing to work in the kitchen or as maids, and who don't want to go out too much at night. I write perfect English but speak it with a slight accent, and therefore could not find a position as a stenographer. But there have been plenty of offers of a job as a cook. I cannot cook, and I have no job."

POSTER ARTISTS TO MEET

Cincinnati. (By the A. P.)—Many of the greatest artists and art teachers in the world are expected here next week to attend the 33rd annual convention of the Poster Advertising association, according to officers of the association. Approximately 1,000 delegates will be present.

The general public has been invited to attend all sessions in order that it may learn of what the poster people are tdying to accomplish in their crusade for clean outdoor advertising. The organization, according to the officers, does not go in for the erection of bill boards but considers them an "abuse" of outdoor advertising.
